Episcopal Mission Observes 1st Year

The little Episcopal Mission in Lemon Grove makes up for its small size by the abundant energy and enthusiasm of its members. Just a year ago, on November 5, the first service was held. Outgrowing the living room in which it was launched, the Mission now meets in the Forward clubhouse at 9:30 Sunday mornings, shepherded by the Rev. Charles Evans. Its growth is steady, and the congregation hopes before another year to have a more permanent home.

A glance at the "Dates Claimed" column shows the following activities of the Mission folk in the near future:

A dance at the Forward Clubhouse on November 10, at 9 p. m., with much fun in store for everyone. Mrs. Myra Sonka is planning a Dance Revue for the benefit of the Mission on November 17 at 7:45 p. m. at the Grossmont High auditorium. Everyone knows how delightful that will be. On December 15, in the park at railroad crossing, will be held a food sale, which will help the busy housewife

Sailors Get 60 Days for Battling Navy Officer

Floyd G. Riggs, 20, and Lyle H. Carpenter, 25, sailors on the U. S. S. Klondike made a serious mistake when they attempted to rob a residence at 3702 Fairway drive.

Carpenter was caught trying to force his way into the home of Lt. James Quinn, at the Fairway address, and coming to his rescue, Riggs socked Quinn on the jaw.

Deputy sheriffs arrested both Carpenter and Riggs and they were hailed before Justice Ratelle in the Homeland Justice Court Tuesday afternoon, where the judge meted out 60-day jail sentences.

Lt. Quinn also threatens to prosecute the two men under four articles of the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

Teacher Subs Needed Here

There is a pressing need for teacher substitutes in the Lemon Grove School District. Although the schools have been successful in securing fully qualified teachers for all classes, despite the acute shortage of teachers throughout the country, the district needs more substitutes to be available when illness forces the regular instructor to be absent from classes. This situation exists in all of San Diego County.

Many qualified people live in or near this district. They are urged to contact the district offices at 7856 Golden Avenue or to phone those offices at H 6-3283.

The George Casteels Visit 43 States on 52-Day Motor Trip to East Coast

Of all the bugs in existence, surely the most contagious is the travel bug. People were just getting settled down to the old fall and winter grind, when here came Mr. and Mrs. George Casteel gliding into town Monday evening in their Chevvie De Luxe with the most contented and happy looks on their faces.

Happy to be home from a 13,500 mile trip; contented because the ambition to hit every State in the Union has been realized.

Fifty-two days it was since they left Lemon Grove last August 25 for Jefferson City, Mont., where they visited their brothers, Robert and Joe Casteel. John Casteel went with them as far as Jefferson City and stayed 2 weeks before returning to Lemon Grove.

They also visited relatives in New York, Kentucky, Missouri and Oklahoma, but most of the visiting was done with Mrs. Casteel's son and family in Brockton, Mass. This was their headquarters for their trips up the Eastern coast.

They saw Niagara Falls (G.W.C., says 40 years late,) Plymouth Rock, Daytona Beach, Bunker Hill Monument and all the rest of the historical places from Maine to Florida. The home trip included Pikes Peak, Grand Canyon and the Petrified Forest.

They visited the Capitol in Washington, D. C., drove through 43 States and visited 27 State capitals. The travelers considered the capital to have the most beautiful setting to be in Montpelier, Vermont. As for massive construction and beauty of design, they chose the one in Madison, Wis.

The most interesting bridges over which they drove were the George Washington bridge in

Kaesong Out As Conference Site; 934 OPS Violations Are Reported

HOUR OF DECISION—For weeks the people in the home towns of the country have held to the hope of peace in Korea through negotiations. This hope all but died last week as Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff, following a conference in Tokyo with Gen. Matthew Ridgway, gave an irrevocable "no" to Communist demands that the United Nations send negotiators back to Kaesong to resume the peace talks.

As an alternative, the UN command offered to meet the Reds at Songhyon in no-man's-land. At the same time, Gen. James Van Fleet, commander of the eighth army, issued a warning that has been interpreted as a thinly veiled threat. He implied, in a statement announcing the opening of an Allied fall offensive, that his forces are capable of driving the Reds completely out of North Korea.

Should the Reds refuse to meet the Allies at Songhyon and do not suggest another meeting place, which is considered possible in many quarters, the newspapers of America will be filled with news of all-out war in Korea during the next few months.

Some observers believe the Chinese do not want to fight another winter campaign. In this hour of decision, in which Communist and Allied forces face each other across a bloody and war-torn Korea, the hope of peace rests squarely on the Chinese.

History Made

U. S. marines in Korea recently added another chapter to their long record of firsts when, in "operation summit," they landed on a mountain by helicopter.

In his announcement that his forces are capable of driving the Reds from North Korea, Van Fleet said that the Allies inflicted 188,237 casualties on the enemy during the past four months. This is equal to approximately 10 Red divisions.

Since the war began the United Nations forces have inflicted an estimated 1,200,000 casualties on the North Korean and Chinese. United States army officials estimate the Reds now have 400,000 men on the fighting front with another 200,000 in immediate reserve.

NEW DRAFT CALL—More men from the home towns of the nation face a draft call during November and December with the announcement last week that 55,900 men will be called for duty in the army and marine corps.

The latest call will bring to 734,680 the men called since the draft was resumed in 1950. The marines have taken 41,680 of the total.

The 39,000 needed in November is 5,300 more than previously announced. Present strength of the corps is about 211,000 officers and men. Of the total, the marines will take 19,900 men.

TAX BILL—By the time this appears in print the house and senate committee may have finished its work on the new tax increase measure and reported it in final form. The senate version calls for a $5.4 billion boost in taxes; the house $7.2 billion. Whatever the final figure, the total tax bill will be one of the largest in the nation's history.

Last week's tax news, however, was not confined to the new tax bill. Of interest was the announcement by Senator George that the new bill "is the last tax-increase bill I will support short of all-out war or a war crisis."

The senator's announcement was of special significance in that he is chairman of the senate finance committee and it is his job to guide tax measures through the senate.

He pointed out that the new tax measure will increase revenues to $67 or $68 billion a year in a full year's operation, an all-time high. "That is enough to spend in a year," he said. "It is about $15 billion more than we should spend even with a stepped-up defense program."

Then he added, "There must be a cut. I know there can be cuts if there is any strong will in the executive department."

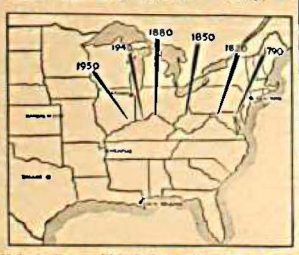
Without Senator George's support any future tax measure would have little, if any, chance of getting through the senate.

MEAT-RULE VIOLATIONS—The office of price stabilization made the startling announcement that its agents have found 934 violations of meat regulations, involving 435 slaughterhouses, in raids in every section of the country. Two out of every five of the 1,145 slaughtering plants check were found violating beef regulations.

Michael V. DiSalle, price stabilizer, made a bitter attack on the meat industry when the violations were announced. He said, "The price of beef is a vital element in the housewife's table budget and it must be held within reason. Surely if the members of the meat industry, who have been putting selfish interest against the nation's economic health, will stop to think of this, they will join with the great mass of people and help us keep the American economy on an even keel."

If found guilty of breaking OPS regulations, violators can be fined damages of three times the amount of price overcharges, and sentenced to a year in jail and a $10,000 fine, or both.

POPULATION SHIFT—Since 1790 the center of population in the United States has continued to move westward. The new center, established by the 1950 census, is located eight miles northwest of Olney, Ill. It is 42 miles west and 7½ miles south of the 1940 center near Carlisle, Ind.



The new shift reflects the westward and southward migrations that took place during World War II when new industries moved into these areas, census bureau officials reported. The trend is expected to continue as more and more industries move west and south.

On the 18th of this month a marker will be erected in the cornfield on the farm of Mr and Mrs. Carl Snider where the center is located. Nobody lives within half a mile of the point. Once a farm home stood 200 feet from the point.

The population center's westward movement has totaled 664 miles in the last 160 years. In 1790 the center was 23 miles west of Baltimore.

UNITED DEFENSE FUND—The united defense fund has joined with the national community chest campaign this year in an effort to raise $18,624,854 to carry on its work. Of the total, $16,511,854 is being sought through chests and the remainder will be raised in New York city and other non-chest areas. Bulk of the funds—$13,658,207—will go to USO.

The united defense fund was formed in November, 1949, to raise funds for services to the armed forces through USO and other organizations; to aid defense-impacted communities through united community defense services; and to help process clothing collected by American relief for Korea.

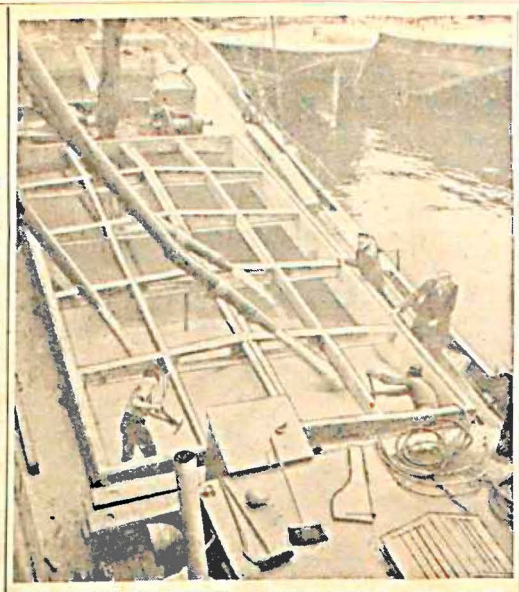
The annual community chest drive was opened September 30 with a nation-wide radio address by President Truman. Community chest officials said their best estimate of the combined total to be raised by individual chests this year is $250,000,000.

REDS IN U. S.

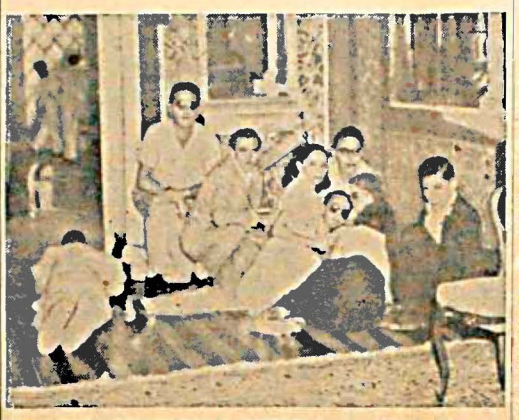
U.S. Communist Party Falling Apart

According to the latest survey of the Communist party in the United States, the Reds are in a bad way. Authorities on the subject report the party is broke, its leadership done for or demoralized, its "brains" tied up trying to defend court cases, and its rank and file so confused the members are pulling out.

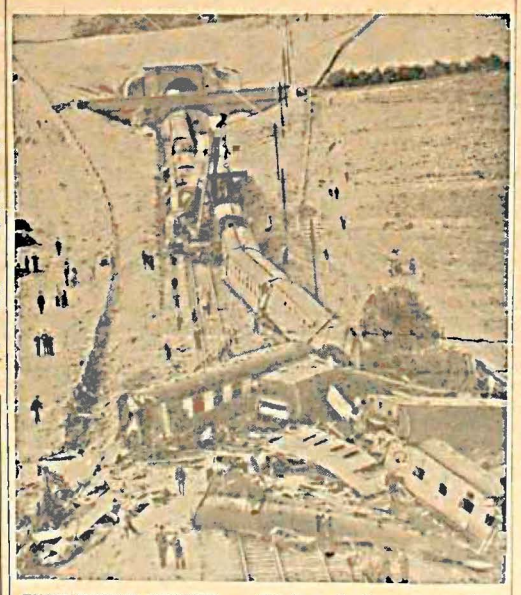
J. Edgar Hoover, F.B.I. chief, reports the party membership has declined to 37,000 compared with a claim of 74,000 in 1947. As for finances, it has been unable to raise funds like it used to and those it gets go to the defense of 07 leaders convicted or facing trial. A drive in April to get $374,595 realized only $200,000. The financial picture is unlikely to improve since member ship continues to decline rapidly in all parts of the country.



RED BARLEY FOR BRITAIN . . . Russian barley is pouring into the holds of a lighter from the Russian freighter Staneleve at Surrey docks, London. The grain is transhipped by vacuum power. Last year Britain took 800,000 tons of Russian grain for which she paid in machinery and material needed by the Russians. Recently the British contracted for one million tons of Red grain from this year's harvest. Britain defends this as vital to her economy.



FIREWORKS FOR BRAZILIAN GOVERNOR . . . Governor Eugenio de Barros, his wife, two daughters and a son take refuge in a huddle on the floor of the "Lion's Palace" in Sao Luis, Maranhao, Brazil, when a rebel force of thousands greeted him with guns, knives and clubs on his return after a federal tribunal had confirmed his election. Four persons were killed in the demonstration and about 20 others were wounded. The opposition contends too many ballots were thrown out.



ENGLISH TRAIN DISASTER . . . This is an air view of the wreckage of the express passenger train that was wrecked recently near Rugby, England. The train was derailed outside of a tunnel. Thirty persons were reported killed and at least 35 injured. One of the cars in the foreground of the picture was smashed into matchwood. The locomotive of the train, after derailing, rolled down the embankment at right.

DIDN'T CHOOSE FREEDOM . . . A Czech private and staff sergeant who were among the passengers aboard the "freedom train" which crashed the iron curtain into west Germany are shown with U.S. M.P.'s and border guards shortly before they were turned over to Czech authorities. Before they were returned to their homeland, the private was found with his nose glued to a show window looking at the first bananas he had seen in six years.

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round
BY DREW PEARSON

No War This Year

THE month of September and early October when the harvest is in is the time when the chanceries and general staffs of Europe watch closest for signs of war. If Europe can get by this period of dry, mild weather before winter bogs down an attacking army, they figure there will be no danger of war at least until June.

Top U.S. officials, likewise, have made all-important surveys of the war possibility, and it is possible for this column to report what their general conclusions are:

1. Russia will not launch World War III this year. However, Russia is expected to continue pressing war by satellites.

2. China, not Russia, has been more eager for a truce. The U.S. war study indicates that Russia came out with the truce proposal chiefly for propaganda purposes; perhaps to stall for time in order to get new arms to Korea.

3. Next step in Communist aggression is likely to be Burma, Thailand, and Indo-China. This area is all-important to the Kremlin if the millions of China are to have rice. Moscow would probably gamble on starting World War III in these countries, though she doesn't actually want it.

4. In Iran the Russians will probably march into the northern province of Azerbaijan and take it by force—if the British go into southern Iran to protect their oil refinery. Here again the Russians are willing to gamble that the west will not go to war over Iran.

5. In Germany, the U.S. analysis does not anticipate a Russian military move, but does foresee a continual army build-up.

Behind Iron Curtain

Increasing evidence is coming back from inside the iron curtain to show that the freedom-friendship balloons and other activities of the crusade for freedom have really got under the Kremlin's skin.

In east Bohemia, for instance, fields where the balloon messages fell were declared "off-limits" to farm workers by security sections of the national Communist committee. In another section of Bohemia, Communist officials offered rewards to the teams of youth brigades who collected the largest number of friendship leaflets.

Near the Czech-Austrian border, a patrol of border police reported "voluminous flying objects" which might be enemy paratroopers. When Prague got the report, it dispatched tank units amid great excitement.

The flying objects, however, turned out to be pillow balloons with the word "Svoboda"—"freedom"—written on them in large letters. They were bouncing along the ground in the early morning twilight like miniature flying saucers. Inside of them, of course, were friendship messages from the American people to the people of Czechoslovakia.

Weeding Out Bureaucrats

It hasn't received any publicity, but President Truman has ordered a drastic housecleaning to sweep the drones from federal government. An ultimatum has already gone out to all agencies to clean house or face budgetary and personnel cuts.

"The present emergency has caused great demands on the manpower resources of our country with shortages of manpower in certain special areas already being felt . . . The federal government, as the largest single employer in the country, should set the example. Therefore, I expect the head of each executive department and agency to bring about maximum effectiveness and economy in the utilization of personnel," the President wrote in identical letters to civil service chairman Robert Ramspeck and budget director Frederick Lawton.

Truman ordered them to "request reports from all departments and agencies and conduct regular inspections and surveys so that reports can be made to me on progress in conserving manpower.

"This manpower conservation program should be given top priority throughout the executive branch," the President added.

As a result, Ramspeck and Lawton sent a joint ultimatum to all agencies to "take steps to assure the most effective and economical use" of manpower.

Though she stands aces with new Secretary of Defense Lovett, dynamic Assistant Secretary Anna Rosenberg may resign. She was brought in by George Marshall to cut the waste out of armed services' manpower and has nearly accomplished her mission . . . In a swift week-end operation, Michigan's Sen. Blair Moody and Walter Reuther, of the auto workers, talked defense mobilizer Charley Wilson out of $800,000,000 contracts.

A Tree Should Be Kept Within Bounds Always

Shade trees require trimming in the summer when they grow out of bounds.

Dense foliage of street trees create hazards by hiding traffic lights and obstructing views. Lush growth of lawn trees darkens the interiors of houses. A low hanging branch, bowed under the weight of leaves, restricts passage over doorways and can become annoying to pedestrians on sidewalks.

Corrective pruning will eliminate these faults.

There are few trees that cannot be improved, in beauty and health, by judicious pruning. Raising limbs by eliminating lower branches will prevent sidewalk obstructions. It also lets in more light to the turf beneath, which is highly desirable under lawn trees.

It's Wonderful the Way Chewing-Gum Laxative Acts Chiefly to REMOVE WASTE —NOT GOOD FOOD
• Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why FEEN-A-MINT's action is so wonderfully different!
Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon... right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away much good food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out.
But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes only waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, tired, worn-out feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel your "peppy," energetic self! Get FEEN-A-MINT! No increase in price—still 25¢, 50¢ or only 10¢.

LABOR FORCE

Ratio of Workers to Persons 65 Or Older Continues to Decline

Today there are only five adult workers in the United States for every person 65 years old or over; in 1850 there were 11 workers, 16 years old or over, for every oldster. In 1900 the proportion was nine workers to one oldster; in 1920 it was eight to one; in 1930, seven to one; in 1940, six to one; by 1950, five to one. In another ten years, under current population trends, there will be approximately four people at work for every person 65 or over. These figures vividly point up our fast-mounting problems with respect to our aging population, reports the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

As medical science and improving conditions enable more people to live past 65, we are at the same time retiring more oldsters from useful work, says the report.

Simply voting the old people more dollars is no solution, either for them or the nation, the report observes, adding that old people do not consume dollars—they consume goods, like everyone else. Somebody has to produce the extra food, clothes, shelter and other things needed for their comfort.

Therefore any practical program of security for our aged must face two basic requirements, says the report:

(1) Production of goods and services by our young and middle-aged people must be expanded much further, through industrial progress, so there will be a greater margin left over from the workers' own needs, to take care of helpless older members of our population.

(2) At the same time our increasing millions of older people must be permitted and helped to keep on at productive work as long after 65 as possible, instead of being discouraged and penalized for so doing.

Unless these basic realities are kept in mind, the problem will grow worse instead of better, says the report; passing out more and more government dollars looks like an easy solution, but only means that each dollar will buy less and less.

• • •

MOST AMERICANS want to stay useful after 65, says the report, pointing to a recent survey of the retirement aims of 3,000 of the company's male policy-holders. Results, as previously published, showed that only 24 per cent want complete leisure when they reach retirement age. The remaining 76 per cent want either to keep on at their present jobs as long as they are physically and mentally capable, or else to be financially able to ease up a bit, with shorter hours or in some lighter occupation. Thus, three out of four of the men in the survey want to keep right on doing something useful after 65.

Such responses further emphasize the need for all retirement programs, whether based on life insurance, industrial pensions or government payments, to be made highly flexible in their provisions for actual retirement from work, the report concludes.

Star Dust
STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

JACKIE KELK has so long been identified with his role on radio's "The Aldrich Family" that mail addressed to "Homer, New York" reaches him. Now both star and producer of television's "Young Mr. Bobbin", the new character is taking over; cops near the NBC building are hailing him as "Bobbin". He is a comedian with no desire to be anything else; he began learning his trade when he was a child stooge for Jack Benny, Fred Allen, Eddie Cantor, Burns and Allen and others. But in real life he sheds the naive teen ager role that has brought success; he is actually an astute business man, with many profitable business investments.

Ronald and Benita Colman

Ronald and Benita Colman returned from vacationing in Italy with plans for "The Halls of Ivy"; he so enjoyed writing that one script for it last year that he has done some writing for the NBC show. They also mulled over the idea of appearing in the stage version which Don Quinn has been preparing. They're interested in doing a test television version as a try-out.

While most of the country is busy building super-markets, Renfro Valley, Ky., is rushing construction on an old-fashioned country store. A replica of the town's original general store, it will be heated by a stove, lit by kerosene lamps, and will house the U. S. Post Office cabinet, almost 100 years old. High-topped shoes, copper-toed boots and bustles will be displayed.

Gene Autry is all set to make a picture in Japan, probably early next year. The Japanese adore westerns, and Gene's comic books, suits and shirts have a terrific sale there. So prepare for his appearance in "Cowboy in Tokyo".

Proud Father Gets Wish; Triple Mary-ment Occasion

KILDANGANAN, Ireland — Joseph Geraghty had told all his friends that he was wishing for it to be a daughter. In fact, he had already chosen a name to be used when the blessed event happened.

Mrs. Geraghty surprised the proud father by presenting him with, not one daughter, but three female family additions. Proud Joseph still was granted his wish.

The girls, he announced merrily, would be named Julia Mary, Norah Mary and Christina Mary.

THE FICTION CORNER

BERTHA

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

3-Minute Fiction

ROY was correcting his English IV mid-year book reviews and the whistling annoyed him. It came from the alley beneath the window at the end of the hall. It had begun early that morning, a bright, cheery whistle, measured, high-pitched.

Presently he could stand it no longer. He was not a violent man, but as he descended the back stairs there was a grimness about his mouth.

Roy emerged into the alley and headed for a high board fence, from behind which came the measured whistle. He went through a door in the fence and stopped short. A voice said: "Hi, kid!"

Suspended from a peg in the fence was a cage and in the cage was a parrot. As Roy stared at it the parrot emitted a shrill, piercing whistle.

Roy was in the act of opening the cage door when someone shrieked. He turned to see a girl with red hair and blazing brown eyes rushing at him.

"Don't you dare touch that cage! Who are you? What are you doing here? You were going to harm Bertha!"

Roy blinked, "Yes," he said calmly, "I was going to wring Bertha's scrawny neck. Bertha's whistling annoyed me. It was driving me crazy. All morning long I have been trying to correct my English book reviews. If the book reviews aren't in by tomorrow I'm apt to lose my job."

The girl's eyes brimmed with tears.

"I'm sorry," Roy said. "Unless you remove Bertha from her present location I shall insist on bashing in her stupid head."

"I'm sorry," said Roy. "Unless you remove Bertha from her present location I shall insist on bashing in her stupid head."

The redhead gasped. "And I'll bet you would do it, too! It's only on bright days that I place Bertha outside. Otherwise, she has to stay in where it's dark. If you don't believe me, come and see."

Roy realized that she was appealing to his better nature, if any. He permitted himself to be led into the house. The room, where abode the girl and Bertha, was truly a gloomy place.

"I concede the point," Roy admitted. He stared at the girl closely. "I should think on warm days you'd want to get out into the air yourself."

"I do. I spend nearly all my time looking for a job. Today I stayed home so Bertha could have a sunning. Tomorrow she won't bother you at all."

"Tomorrow," said Roy, "I won't be here to mind." He scratched his chin.

"Look here," he said. "What kind of work are you looking for?"

"I used to be a librarian," said the girl.

"A librarian!" exclaimed Roy. Would you like a job correcting English IV book reviews?"

The redhead's eyes grew round. "Do you mean—why I'd adore such a job!"

"By the way," he said, "I haven't asked your name."

"It's Roberta Cameron. And if you want these papers tonight, I think you'd better let me get to work on them."

IT was in October that Bertha had first aroused Roy's ire. Two weeks before Christmas he asked Roberta an important question. She shook her head. "I couldn't marry you. You don't like Bertha."

"But I've really grown fond of Bertha!" Roy cried. "Why, if it weren't for Bertha, I'd never have met you."

The day after this, Bertha caught a cold. It was bright and warm in the morning and Roberta left the bird outside while she went to town. At noon it turned cold and began to rain. Attracted by a series of hoarse shrieks, Roy rushed into the alley, seized the cage and returned indoors. Bertha died the next day.

"I—I suppose," said Roberta, "I shouldn't have put her out."

Roy stared. A thousand thoughts galloped through his mind. But he had the good sense not to mention them. Instead he picked up Roberta's hand and Roberta smiled.

EMIL WRITES AGAIN

Dear Babe:

I am not sure what the score is over here in Korea but the Commies are out ahead in unsupported allegations, wild charges and loose insults. They are using a new type of war tactics known as the Dream Book Assault, which consists of dreaming up new charges every hour on the hour. The Reds' new mystery weapon is a rapid-fire typewriter, Munchausen model, with special anti-recoil devices attached. Ridgway and me just got accused of flying over Kaesong on a broom in violation of the agreement on witches.

It was a nice summer of mutual distrust. There never was a series of peace talks that made both sides more warlike. Malik turned out to be using the old upside-down talk by remote control. His record for never letting a peace idea get to first base remains 100 per cent. The whole thing was a farce comedy entitled "How Simple Can the Free World Get?" with music by the Chinese, words by Machiavelli and direction by Joe Stalin. We were always out-yelled, out-smeared and out-vilified. In any dealings with the Commies you should get a Nobel peace prize if you come through without being forced to sue for defamation of character.

We are getting woolen pants so I guess we are here for another winter. The Reds have used the cease-fire months to build themselves up, but our side did not use the intermission just to smoke cigarettes in the lobby. We have some big surprises for the Reds. I am getting used to war in strange faraway places, in fact the Army don't feel natural any more if it is in a country where there are no strange smells and a demand for interpreters. Join the Army (not the Navy) and see the world! A sailor doesn't get around at all compared to a GI today. This Army has cooks who have been in more parts of the world than any dozen admirals you can name.

Well, it was swell to read how Acheson and Dulles pitched no-hitters at Frisco where Gromyko was made null and void and stamped "Not good if punched" all over. Stopping a Russk, from gumming up the works is a trick of the year and it makes Acheson our latest mystery weapon which we should stockpile at once. Say what you may about Dean he is no sucker for monkey wrenches, I hear he may be matched with Vishinsky, but that Vishinsky won't sign unless he can meet under the Marquis of Billingsgate rules and have any statement of fact called a foul.

What's new back home? Have the Giants sued for peace? What's the latest communique from the fighting in the Hollywood colony? I see a couple of fellows got around $200,000 each for fighting thirty minutes in a baseball park, free from minefields, booby traps, ambushes and canned eggs and got praised for showing raw courage! Well, it is all in the point of view and I trust the two boys did not suffer from a lack of blood plasma.

Keep your chin up, honey, and whenever you hear of the Foreign Legion think of me as I am getting more foreign with every new command from my sarge. Paul Revere got famous in history and he only traveled a few miles on horseback. I've been farther than Dr. Livingstone, Jules Verne, Perle Mesta, Eisenhower, Citation and Averell Harriman put together, and on foot, too. When you and I get married we must make a trip around the world, Heaven forbid.

President Disregards His Dixiecrat Opposition

By Wright A. Patterson

REGARDLESS of what the permanent effect may be on the future of his party, how wide the factional split may spread, the President is determined to make another try at securing legislation on his Fair Deal program.

Senator Humphreys of Minnesota has been delegated to prepare and introduce in the senate eight bills that, if they can be passed, would effectuate the Fair Deal program as contained in the Democratic platform of 1948, for the adoption of which Senator Humphreys was largely responsible.

Senator Humphreys is promised the active support of half a dozen other northern Democratic senators who support anything the President asks for.

The first of these measures is the anti-lynching bill, which the south has been able to talk to death, as an invasion of state's rights. It is the President's belief that the passage of such a measure, with its effect on the northern negro vote, could mean turning the electoral vote of such states as New York, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Ohio, and others with a large negro population into the Democratic column, without seriously effecting the white vote of any of the southern states, the people of which are regarded as first protestant, second democratic and third American.

Only a counting of the ballots in the next election can determine the real answer. If the President is right in his surmise, it could mean his election to a third term. All such bills are to be promoted as welfare legislation.

What the action of the Republicans in the senate, whether or not they will support the Dixiecrats of the south, will not be known until the senate votes. The Republicans are not anxious to affront the northern Democratic negroes. The Republicans, too, would like to have as many of those votes as possible. In it all there is much more of politics than of welfare on both sides.

Such a move on the part of the President could mean a permanent split in his party that in time might be politically expensive and mean a third party and a loss of regular Democratic control of congress. Such a result would not be evident in the next election.

When I was in Hawaii between the first and second world wars, an invariable subject of conversation was "statehood for the islands." A large majority of the people of all the racial groups were for it. A small minority, led by the Honolulu Advertiser, was opposed.

The Advertiser based its opposition on its expressed belief in a lack of loyalty on the part of the Japanese, then the largest of the racial groups in the islands, but the publisher and owner admitted the real reason was the certainty that the publisher and owner of the compelling daily, The Star-Telegram, would undoubtedly be elected to the United States senate following admission of the islands to statehood, and that he could not afford to have a competitor selected for such a job which would add to his influence and prestige among the island's people.

I am told the opposition to statehood has grown some, since I was in the islands, and such opposition as exists is fathered, not alone by The Advertiser, but also by the army, especially the intelligence service of the army. It is fearful that statehood would affect the army's privileges and practices.

Such objections as are back of any opposition is not worthy of consideration on the part of congress. The islands are fully entitled to being made a real part of the United States. It has been a step child for an overly long period. To longer continue it on a territorial basis is unfair. Give it a chance to rule itself and to enjoy the advantages of statehood, regardless of petty objections.

The examples starting the breakdown of morality and integrity in America were to be found in the White House, among the President's cabinet officers, ambassadors, and public officials fairly generally. They have accepted bribes for betraying the interests of the American people. But the President says they have done nothing illegal.

CLEM WHITAKER, Jr.

"The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial or industrial enterprise in competition with its citizens except as specified in the Constitution."

That's the proposed 23rd Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. It sounds simple, logical and desirable—and almost unnecessary. But, according to its sponsor, the American Progress Foundation, the measure is desperately necessary.

Here is the story, an interesting one that it appears will be heard more and more in ensuing months, as the American Progress Foundation, the national womens' organization, Pro America, and individual groups which back the amendment go to work spreading their message.

The Federal Government, it is claimed, has wilfully evaded the provisions of the Constitution," to set up scores upon scores of Federal Corporations which directly compete with private business—with the tax monies of private business and individuals as "capital." In one leaflet, the American Progress Foundation lists 88 Federal Corporations and 10 International Cartels, which it points out have become "a highway for the rapid and unlimited extension of political power and sovereignty which now threatens to engulf us."

Comments the Foundation: "Noteworthy is the fact that American taxpayers are paying two ways for all these grand gestures towards total political domination of all things."

"Excluding the cost of the cartels, which are traditionally un-American in both principle and practice, the losses of the Federal Corporations add up to a fabulous amount of treasure which is extracted from the American taxpayers.

"These losses, and the endless billions in hidden costs which accompany them, can be eliminated by outlawing the socialistic process which creates them. That is the purpose of the proposed 23rd Amendment, now before Congress."

Abolishment of the Federal Corporations through "denationalization of the enterprises now federally owned and operated, would reduce the national debt" by more than $50 billion dollars "recoverable by selling the properties and facilities of the federal corporations back to the American people," the Foundation declares.

The point is further made that denationalization "would also eliminate the losses and hidden costs of the Federal Corporations, reducing the cost of operating the Federal Government by more than one third, which would, in turn, greatly reduce taxes." The reduction on personal income taxes is figured at 70 percent.

Claims the Foundation, "The proposed 23rd Amendment would remove the most alluring implements of political corruption ever known to mankind —the power to arbitrarily invade and confiscate the wealth of citizens."

Highlanders, Sweetwater in Non-Stop Clash

Helix High's Highlanders step out of the bruising City Prep League football race for a week as they clash with Sweetwater, a non-loop foe, Friday at 8:00 p. m. in the Aztec Bowl.

The Highlanders, victims of the loop's toughest members, Hoover and San Diego on successive weekends, are seeking their second win of the season.

Sweetwater's Red Devils, improved and rated as one of the Metro League's toughest eleven, will provide no breather for the Helix squad. It should be a close game all the way, with the game decided by a decisive penalty or a bad break, possibly.

Last Friday, Sweetwater edged Chula Vista, 6-0, for their second straight triumph. Meanwhile, the outclassed Highlanders were bowing to strong San Diego High to the tune of 41-0.

Unbeaten Sisters Face Arizona

San Diego State College's unbeaten Aztec football team meets Arizona State, of Tempe, Ariz., Saturday night at the college bowl.

The Aztecs completed their fourth week of the current season without defeat by downing the Marine Recruit Depot squad in the annual Bahr Shrine Charity contest last Saturday in Balboa Stadium.

The Tempe squad brings a strong Border Conference club to San Diego. Both teams are defending champs of their respective conferences, and this fact should add to the importance of the game.

Off last year's 31-13 triumph, Tempe may be slight choice, but the Aztecs, sore for revenge, and eager to extend their winning streak will be tough to beat.

Lemon Grove School News

Junior High School

At a meeting of mothers of girls in the pom pom corps on Monday evening, arrangements were completed for the purchasing of materials for the pom pom costumes. Miss Donna Dreyer, physical education teacher, is in charge of the corps. The girls, in green and gold outfits, hope to participate in the Mother Goose parade next month at El Cajon.

Outdoor Assembly

Students of the seventh and eighth grades held an outdoor assembly during the morning session on Columbus Day. Music for the occasion was furnished by the school band, making its initial appearance this fall under the direction of Paul Cheatham, music director.

The boys' quartet, practicing under the direction of Ada Krimsky, music instructor, sang "Southern Memories." The quartet is composed of Arvis Reed, Ronnie Svalstad, John Bates and Eugene Westmoreland. Group singing was then led by Beryl Scott and Janice Jewett, eighth grade song leaders.

Beryl Scott, president of the junior high student council, spoke to the student body about the approaching Halloween Carnival, where the council will sponsor a ball toss booth. Yesterday (Wednesday) the council sponsored a pie and cake sale at the school. Beryl introduced all the members of the council to the students, including both officers and room representatives.

Attend Concert

Junior high students Mary Barrows, Eleanor Stewart, Deanie Whalen, Arvis Reed, Roger Courtney, Bever'y Kirkman, Audrey Walker, and Ronnie Svalstad, accompanied by T. E. Courtney and Mrs. C. P. Whalen, were privileged to attend the first in a series of concerts at Grossmont High School. Dorothy Warenskjold, soprano, was the featured artist.

Plans for the coming Halloween Carnival at the Lemon Grove School are progressing rapidly according to reports from the co-chairmen, Mrs. H. T. Espe and Bob Sutton. Merchants of the community have been contributing generously toward the annual school carnival which will be held on the school grounds on October 31, beginning at 5:30 p. m.

The carnival is sponsored each year by the PTA as one of its main fund-raising activities. It serves to keep the youth of our town occupied and out of mischief during the fun night so dear to the hearts of adults as well as children.

Main event of the evening will be the costume parade when children of grade school age will compete for prizes. Other attractions are the rides, refreshment booths, fish pond, country store, ball toss, etc.

Lemon Grove School

Miss Audrey Dean Smith, sixth grade teacher was awarded a prize and an honorable mention for entries she displayed at the Los Angeles County Fair held last month in Pomona. The prize was awarded for a hand turned lignum vitae bowl and the honorable mention for a bowl of primavera mahogany. Both these entries won awards in competition with displays by professional artists.

After the close of the fair, these prize winning exhibits will tour the United States for a year in an exhibit sponsored by the American Federation of Arts.

A pre-Institute breakfast was held for teachers of the school on Monday, at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Lauritzen, 3162 Upas Street, San Diego. Attending were Thesis McCampbell, Patricia Walters, Dorothy Sisti, Helen Thompson, Lula Fielder, Agnes Rodgers, Joyce Lytle, Ovella Mason, Hazel Jensen, Leota Holcomb, June Mason, Audrey Smith, William Fritch, John Strawn, Robert Sutton, William Lemke, and Clayton Pollard.

School Safety Patrol boys who will be honored at a matinee this Saturday by John van Gilse at his Grove Theatre are Kenneth Hill, Roger Slagill, Ward Makin, Paul Jernigan, Jimmie Dial, Robert Davis, Keith Hall, Gary Calvert and James Herrera; and Fred Hawkins and Bobby Davis, playground safeties.

The fourth, fifth, and sixth grades held an assembly program Friday morning near the outside bleachers. The school band, under the direction of Paul Cheatham, played several stirring march numbers for the students. Group singing was also part of the musical program.

All candidates for the elementary school student council were introduced and speeches given by candidates for president; Nancy Bloom, Judy Bates, and Alan Rovang. Also speeches by candidates Donald Brent and Brenda Epperson for vice president and Randall Nisbett, Michael Myers, and Diane Rider for secretary. Mr. Lemke's sixth grade students staged an old fashioned rally for their candidate, Nancy Bloom, with banners, posters, and a well-organized cheering section.

Following the program, boys and girls returned to their homerooms and cast ballots for the election of student council officers. Nancy Bloom was elected president; Brenda Epperson, vice president; and Diane Rider, secretary.

Mr. Purves' sixth grade class has elected Sharon Cassell, president; Kenneth Smith, vice president; Jerry Glazebrook, secretary; Mary Brown and Farldene Ward, monitors; and Jane Carlson, librarian, for next month.

Vista La Mesa School

The morning fifth grade under the sponsorship of Mrs. Virginia Cornelius, will edit the Vista La Mesa News this year. This school paper will be issued four times throughout the school term. The student staff will be: Barbara Thomas, editor; Lynne Brehl, assistant art editor; Morris Nunez, sports editor; Larry Geerdes, lost and found department; and Marilyn Maheu, copyist. All classes throughout the school will contribute items of interest of the many class activities.

Mrs. Leith Melvar and Mrs. Wilbur Fearn, room mothers for the afternoon kindergarten, and Mrs. Jacob Dial, for the morning kindergarten, were hostesses recently when they entertained mothers of the kindergarten children and the teachers, Mrs. Ellen Berdel and Miss Rosalind Long, at an afternoon tea.

Plans were made for all parents to visit kindergarten sessions and to watch children at work and play. Small groups of parents will be invited to attend classes on designated days, and of course all patrons of the schools are invited to visit any classes at any time.

Monterey Heights School

Over 400 members were obtained for the PTA with Mrs. Geissler's afternoon second grade winning the award for most members secured.

Everyone is working hard to make the Halloween Carnival a success. Donations are needed for the booths—white elephant, bakery, plant, fish pond, and pop corn. Call Mrs. Upton, H 6-1375, or Mrs. Crawford, H 6-2234, for information.

Mrs. Bowen's Second grade visited a fire station in San Diego on Friday in connection with their study of community helpers. The class was very interested in seeing the work the firemen do and the way they live at the fire station. The firemen showed them how the fire alarms come in, and explained the work and equipment of the hook and ladder truck and the pumper truck. They slid down the pole to show the children how quickly they can be at their posts after the bell rings.

They showed how the aerial ladder was used and the firemen jumped into the life net. Some of the children had a turn at jumping a short distance.

The children gained a greater appreciation of the fireman's work. They have learned new words and written stories about the firemen. The trip is a motivating influence for study.

Mrs. Raymond Johnson and Mrs. J. A. Setchell accompanied the children on the trip, which was made in one of the school buses.

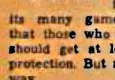
Fight Fiasco Punishes Ring Fans

By GRANTLAND RICE

NOW and then a considerable amount of punishment is dealt out in the ring. But the two fighters seldom absorb the punishment the fight fan is forced to take.

After the Robinson-Turpin crowd-handling fiasco, I can see why many thousands wouldn't take the same beating again at the Saddler-Pep show. The fight fan's only recourse for protection is to stay at home. I doubt that too many who were in the Turpin-Robinson upheaval will be in shape to tackle another fight any time soon.

And it might be mentioned that the fight fan gets little or no protection from the State Boxing Commission. Maybe it isn't the business of the State Boxing Commission to see that any protection is offered. Apparently the only interest the Commission has is to see that the state tax is collected and delivered.



Grantland Rice

The State of New York gets a terrific financial cut from its many games, enough to see that those who pay in this money should get at least some form of protection. But it doesn't work that way.

The main trouble is that the average fan, no matter what the game, is a glutton for punishment. He apparently isn't happy unless he is getting all the worst of it. He doesn't seem to care about being treated as a human being. He's out for the sport.

But few fans think a fight is worth the beating many thousands had to take in the middleweight brawl. Who is to guarantee it won't happen again? No one in sight that I can see, as long as the tax money is properly delivered.

With the fight game almost fading out a few months back, a series of lucky breaks suddenly developed, sparked by Turpin's victory over Robinson in England.

Saddler and Pep have always put on a good show. Marciano's victory over Rex Layne made the Louis assignment look much better than usual.

But the International Boxing Club and Madison Square Garden will have to show they know how to handle a big show before many thousands will return, regardless of who stars in the ring. The fans get mighty tired of being mishandled.

• • •

The TV Barrier

There is one angle of the television game that a great many thousands never seem to understand. The promoter has the complicated problem of selling the show and yet giving it away on the same night. When the day comes when television receipts outmatch the gate returns every show may be televised. It stands to reason.

If promoters can get $750,000 in the way of turnstile receipts without television, and $1,000,000 from television, then we'll have television.

More than a few of those connected with the fight game believe this will happen some day. I know Mike Jacobs said some time ago that we'd soon have big fights with less than 1,000 fight fans present, with television paying possibly $3,000,000 or $4,000,000. It seems that he was right.

But some way must be found to make the television owner pay his share of this money. When some inventive genius discovers the right way, everybody concerned will be happy.

It will be doubly interesting to see how the college football television program will work out. Men like Tom Hamilton, Ralph Furey, Asa Bushnell and others know their jobs thoroughly.

They have prepared the best program possible without wrecking too many teams.

Football, it might be stated, is not on a very strong financial footing at the moment. The high cost of recruiting, of taking care of the players, of the double-platoon system has about wrecked the budgets of more than a few big teams. Television was costing them heavily at the turnstiles.

The Bowl Bids

This seems to be a bit soon for any football Bowl nominations, but you can't get arrested for guessing.

Rose Bowl—Washington vs. Ohio State or Illinois.

Cotton Bowl—Texas A. and M., Texas and Baylor all have a chance. Tennessee, Kentucky, or Alabama or Maryland can make it.

Sugar Bowl—Tennessee, Alabama or Oklahoma. Plus Maryland.

Orange Bowl—Miami vs. Maryland or Alabama.

For those trying to pick football winners in various polls from now on, the teams to watch are Tennessee, Kentucky and Alabama from the South; Ohio State, Michigan State, Illinois and Notre Dame from the Midwest; Pennsylvania, Navy, Princeton and Cornell from the East; Miami from the independents; Baylor, Texas A. and M. and Texas from the Southwest; Oklahoma and Nebraska from the Missouri Valley; Washington from the West Coast.

You won't go too far off the happy road by picking most of these.

Better Shells

Paper in today's shotgun shells can withstand far more abuse than those of a decade ago thanks to a World War II discovery revealed today by Western-Winchester officials.

A plastic compound, melamine formaldehyde, added to pulp in the manufacturing process results in a paper that withstands dampness and friction when shells are carried on scores of trips during bad weather in the pocket of a sportsman's coat.

High wet-strength paper originally was used in 40,000,000 wartime maps and as a packaging material. It was developed to meet military demands for a paper retaining maximum strength when wet.

Affected Fitting

Before this plastic treated paper entered the sporting ammunition picture, scuffing and dampness sometimes prevented a shell from fitting into the chamber of a gun.

The abrasion test: After 30 turns on the abrazer, the paper disc is removed.

A mechanical "hunter's pocket" was devised by Western-Winchester ballisticians to determine the value of high wet-strength paper in shotshells over previously used shell cases. Both new and old shells were subjected during the experiments to friction and dampness many times more severe than they would receive over a long period of time when carried loose by a hunter.

After they had been soaked in warm water for half an hour, both types of shells were given a 15-minute drubbing in the machine. No perceptible damage resulted to shells made with high wet-strength paper. The older types were scuffed so severely that chambering was difficult and often impossible.

Used Emery Wheel

Another test made by researchers for the sporting arms and ammunition concern involved holding ordinary shotshell paper and high wet-strength paper to a slowly revolving emery wheel. Where the latter type barely was scratched, the other paper virtually burst apart after 20 revolutions.

Search for a "perfect" paper has been a major project of sporting ammunition manufacturers since the advent of paper shotshells half a century ago. Excellent results under normal conditions came when hulls were made of four layers of four-ply paper impregnated with paraffin. Because excessive wear and wet weather frequently damaged such hulls beyond use, research efforts continued.

Comparison: A comparison of the two papers after 30 turns on the abrazer shows the surface of the old-type paper (left) has been completely worn away, exposing the white sub-layer. The High Wet Strength paper (right) shows only a small amount of surface wear.

Wartime developments of high wet-strength paper were viewed as the possible answer to the problem. Sample maps of this paper did not show "noticeable effects" when they were soaked in water wrung out, smeared with grease, daubed with paint, gasoline and mud, walked over by an entire regiment and, finally, rolled over by a tank.

When this paper was made available for civilian use, Western-Winchester began its tests of the paper for shotshell purposes. These led to adoption of high wet-strength paper in making a tougher, more waterproof hull.

Try It

There are two schools of thought among bass fishermen about whether noise or sight of an angler will frighten off this species. One school says that Mr. Bass is so game, so pugnacious, that he isn't afraid of anything, particularly noise or the most formidable appearing angler in the land. The other school maintains that quiet stalking of Mr. Bass is as important as it is when attempting to creel Mr. Trout. We suggest the quiet method.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

Quantity Cooking For Church Suppers Requires Planning

IT'S ABOUT that time of year when clubs and groups are getting organized enough to plan a large dinner or luncheon to feed most of the group. To run these affairs smoothly requires advance planning as well as an understanding of what foods are likely to go over nicely with a crowd.

These recipes are planned to give first aid for the homemaker who suddenly faces the task of feeding 25 to 30 people in her group. The recipes given will serve 25, and they are easily doubled to serve 50.

Plan the work far enough in advance to avoid lack of supplies and disappointment when the work actually gets under way. All groceries should be ordered in advance and checked the day before the event in case something is missing and the menu has to be changed.

If you have help, assign one or more of the foods to be prepared to individuals. Consider who can best do each type of work, and let this be your guide in assignments.

Check equipment and dishes to be used so that you have made ample preparations for the actual work. One woman who is capable can direct the preparation and serving.

HERE'S A GOOD community supper menu which is bound to please a group of people:

Meat Loaf or Ham Loaf
Boiled Potatoes or
Scalloped Potatoes
Green Beans or Harvard Beets
Rolls or Bread Butter
Apple-Cranberry Salad or
Cabbage-Carrot Salad
Shoofly Pie
Coffee

• • •

EITHER MEAT OR HAM loaf is economical for a big supper, and it's easy to serve:

Ham Loaf
(Serves 25)

- 5 pounds ground, smoked ham
- 1½ pounds ground fresh pork
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1½ quarts dry crumbs
- 1¼ quarts milk
- ¼ cup mustard

Combine all ingredients and place in three loaf pans 4"x8". Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 1½ hours. Let stand 15 minutes before slicing.

Meat Loaf
(Serves 25)

- 3 pounds ground beef or veal
- 1½ pounds ground pork
- 6 cups (1½ quarts) bread crumbs
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 4½ cups milk
- ⅔ cup finely chopped onion
- 5½ teaspoon dry mustard
- ⅝ teaspoon sage
- 2 tablespoons salt
- ¾ teaspoon pepper

Mix all ingredients together and pack in three greased 4"x8" loaf pans. Bake 1½ hours in a moderate oven (350°F.).

Meat or Ham loaf makes an excellent meat course for a large crowd because it's easy to prepare, pleasing to a large number of people and slices readily for easy serving. Either loaf can be baked in homesized tins, thus eliminating the necessity of getting special equipment.

Shoofly pie tops off the large quantity supper nicely because of the failure-proof recipe. In place of large pie tins, the 8-inch size may be used, allowing four to serve 25 people. The pie slices easily thus simplifying large quantity serving.

CHURCH SUPPER MENU

*Ham Loaf
*Green Beans *Scalloped Potatoes
*Apple-Cranberry Salad
Rolls Butter Relishes
*Shoofly Pie
Milk Tea Coffee
*Recipes Given

Scalloped Potatoes
(Serves 25)

- 6 pounds potatoes, peeled, thinly sliced
- 1 tablespoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup flour
- ¼ cup butter or substitute
- 1 quart milk

Place layer of potatoes in greased baking pan and sprinkle with salt, pepper and flour mixed together. Dot with butter. Repeat until all potatoes are used. Pour over heated milk to cover. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven until potatoes are tender, about 1½ to 2 hours.

If you plan to have boiled potatoes, you'll have to use 8 to 10 pounds. Green beans may be canned for easy preparation. A No. 10 can contains 3 quarts and will serve 25. Use 4 tablespoons salt and 1 cup bacon drippings for seasoning. Or, use 6 pounds fresh green beans or 2¾ pounds frozen for 25 people.

• • •

Cabbage-Carrot Salad
(Serves 25)

- 4 pounds finely shredded cabbage
- 2 pounds carrots, grated
- 1 pound celery, diced
- 1 quart boiled salad dressing

Blend all ingredients together and serve with lettuce.

• • •

Apple-Cranberry Salad
(Serves 25)

- 5 cups cranberries
- 2½ cups water
- 2½ cups sugar
- 2½ tablespoons gelatin
- 5 tablespoons cold water
- 1¼ cups diced apples
- 1¼ cups diced celery

Pick over and wash cranberries. Cook gently with water until skins burst. Put through sieve and add sugar; let stand 5 minutes. Soften gelatin in cold water, then blend into hot cranberry mixture. Let cool to thicken, fold in apples and celery. Pour into mold or pan. Chill until firm. Serve with lettuce and mayonnaise, mixed with whipped cream.

Shoofly Pie
(Serves 25)

- 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 2 cups light brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon ginger
- ½ teaspoon cloves
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup shortening
- 4 egg yolks, well beaten
- 1½ cups light molasses
- 2 tablespoons baking soda dissolved in 2⅔ cups boiling water
- 4 6-inch pie shells, unbaked

Sift together first seven ingredients. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles cornmeal. Combine egg yolks, molasses and soda in water. In pie shells, alternate flour mixture and liquid having the flour mixture as a base and topping. Bake in a hot (450°F.) oven for 10 minutes. Reduce temperature to moderate (350°F.) and bake 15 minutes until pie is set.

LYNN SAYS:

Here are Hints
For Quantity Cookery

If you're planning rolls for a crowd, three dozen rolls will serve 25 people, allowing some of them seconds. For heavy eaters allow four dozen which will give you 48 rolls.

Brick ice cream is an easy dessert for large crowds. Unpack from dry ice 45 minutes before serving and then slice with a knife dipped in warm water.

Keep hot rolls and bread from drying out in the oven by covering them with a slightly damp towel.

For tossed salads, made in quantity, wash and prepare vegetables ahead of time, then cover with a damp cloth or place in a plastic bag until just before time to serve. Toss and add dressing.

Biscuits and pie crusts may be prepared in advance; if you make either mix and refrigerate it. Then only the liquid needs to be mixed in, and the shaping done before baking.

Up From the Sea

Magnesium, a metal extracted from salt water, is commonly used as a means of draining destructive electrical currents from metals buried underground or submerged in water, because it will produce as much as 1000 ampere hours per pound at 1.7 volts. These currents cause the metal to corrode if not drained away.

Rich Soil Healthy

Populations in areas where the soil produces food of high nutritive value are healthier, more efficient, and more energetic than the average, according to Dr. H. B. Davidson, president of the medical association of the county of New York. One striking example, he points out, is the small amount of rejects by selective service boards in sections of the country such as the northwestern states as compared with the high percentage of rejects in certain areas of the deep south.

May Not Be Flattering

Green can be used successfully on an area of any size and in any section of the household. Be careful, however, not to use too yellow a green when painting bathroom walls. Near the mirror where you face yourself in the morning, it has an unflattering effect on the complexion. It makes you not-so-sure-that-you-feel-too-well.

Dynamite Safer

It's safer to work in a dynamite factory than in a garage or service station. Labor department statistics show the average frequency rate of injuries while making automobile repairs is 13.6 injuries for every million man-hours while employees making dynamite average only 1.8 injuries per million man-hours in making explosives.

Problem-Solver

Even manufacturers of miniature motor cars have their problems with finishes. One such problem developed when the maker of toy plastic cars was puzzled over the way to equip his minute motors with authentic-looking chrome bumpers without upsetting production. The answer was found to be a specially formulated finish that will not attack the plastic and that dries in one minute, permitting continuous production. By means of it, costs were kept down and saleability was improved.

White Painted Walls Turned Yellow

QUESTION: What can be done to keep walls that are going to be painted white, from turning yellow? My white painted walls have always turned yellow or have discolored. Would putting bluing (laundry blue) or else some blue paint in with the white paint prevent this discoloration? How much should I use in each gallon of paint?

ANSWER: A good grade of paint should not turn yellow or discolor. I believe you bought an inexpensive grade. I would not advise using laundry blue. If you wish to add a small amount of blue paint to the white, it should be perfectly all right, and might help to give a good white effect. But do not attempt to mix the paint yourself. Ask your paint dealer to mix it for you in his mechanical mixer. If you try it yourself, add very small quantities of color in oil and thoroughly stir each amount until you get the desired shade.

Casteel Trip

New York City and the Huey Long bridge in New Orleans.

The most beautiful and best kept countryside was the Blue Grass region in Kentucky where the pastures looked like well kept lawns. All enclosure were white painted fences.

They found the most desolate and poverty stricken region to be in Southern Alabama.

Said Mr. Casteel; "We consumed 771 gallons of gas—and unrecorded quantities of bacon, eggs and fried chicken. We saw a lot of a big and wonderful United States. We found good accomodations and food everywhere. The weather was good with rain in Rhode Island, Florida and Missouri.

"Roads were good all the way with lots of road building, widening and straightening (like in California), but all with little inconvenience to travelers.

"It was a grand trip with the same finale—the best part was getting home."

Mrs. Casteel's brother, Arthur Hutchins, and his wife of Brockton, Mass. accompanied the Casteels on the homeward trip and will visit here for some time. They will later go to the San Francisco area to spend the winter with three children and their families.

during her pre-Christmas scramble, and bring delectable fare to her table.

The Mission folk have a rummage sale this week-end and have been busy gathering attic treasures from aprons to zithers, and have been on the job from dawn to dark.

The Sunday School meets in the same living room in which the Mission began its services. Mrs. Russel Ray reports that 19 young people met there last Sunday, so that before long the new location will be imperative. A welcome awaits anyone who does not at present have a church home.

Another Winner in the Old Gold Doorbell Ringing Quiz

The 135th winner in the Old Gold Cigarette Doorbell Ringing Quiz was Mrs. Frank Foster, 3541 Fairway. She won a beautiful Westinghouse Speed Electric Range.

Mrs. Foster qualified by having an open carton of Old Gold cigarettes in her home, when the Old Gold Cigarette Question Man called at her door and by answering correctly the Question of the Day (What president of the United States delivered the Gettysburg Address.)

Mr. James I. Hood one of the Old Gold Cigarette Question Men in this area is shown presenting the range to Mrs. Foster; while Mr. Robert T. Redfield Jr., Local Service Representative of the San Diego Gas and Electric Company looks on. Mr. Redfield was present to make the necessary installation arrangements.

Mrs. Foster's husband is employed in the Insurance Department of the Builders Control Service and they are the parents of love'y two year old twins.

Mrs. Foster is an enthusiastic contest fan and has been following the Old Gold Doorbell Ringing Quiz since it started in this area.

Mr. Hood stated that "The Old Gold Doorbell Ringing Quiz will continue until the middle of November. So "Be Prepared" you too may be a winner. —Adv.

FARM NEWS

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

Rinse vs. No-Rinse

Scorched clothes are not always due to a hot iron. Sometimes the clothes have not been rinsed enough to remove all the soap or soil, according to Delphine Wilson, Home Advisor for the University of California Agricultural Extension Service.

One of the drawbacks to the "no-rinse" method of laundering, Mrs. Wilson says, is that some of the soiled water is left in the clothes. It is impossible to remove all the water by wringing or spinning.

The no-rinse washing does save time and water. However, Mrs. Wilson does not recommend it for washing any but slightly soiled clothes and only when using one of the new no-rinse detergents. Tests show that after 10 no-rinse washings, the family laundry begins to show "tattle-tale grey." If you do use the wash-without-rinsing methods, Mrs. Wilson suggests using plenty of water, keeping the water clean, and wringing or spinning the clothes as thoroughly dry as possible.

Avocado Leaf Burn

Avocado leaves that are entire and green in July and August often become somewhat mottled and tip-burned in October and November. Some of this type of trouble is a result of old leaves affected by warm, dry, or windy weather. According to Farm Advisor Joe Coony most of the severe burning of leaves is due to salt factors.

This burning of leaves has increased in recent years. Our irrigation waters contain more dissolved salt than growers like. The soil solutions therefore contain more salt. There has been no leeching type of rainfall for some years. Chloride and, in some districts, sodium appear to be the chief salts involved. These toxic salts have been absorbed by the roots, and have been accumulating in the leaves all season long. By late fall and winter, the amount accumulated in the leaves is sufficient to cause burning.

Some orchards, and even some districts, will fare better this year, depending on the water quality and amount of water available. Since water supplies have been used sparingly in all districts, the degree and severity of leaf burn may be increased.

Judy Castle had a happy sixth birthday Saturday afternoon when her mother Mrs. Bill Castle, 1626 El Roy. Judy's grandmother, Mrs. R. G. Richardson, and Mrs. Philip Titmas assisted. Games were played and refreshments served featuring a birthday cake. Little friends present were Susan and Philip Titmas, Mary Carol and Jack Herman, Terry, Linda and Sally Betts, Janice Eckler, Gloria and Carol Foster, Cathie O'Reilly, Marianne Schalbut, Dorothy Hentigan, Shirley Smith and Janis Yankey.
